

Just to let you know...

Maths

Continuing to build on the learning from last week, the children have been working hard at different written methods of division, understanding it being the inverse of multiplication. They are starting to apply their skills in solving word problems.

All classes have now enjoyed their RGS visits. They took part in a range of activities, from having fun firing trebuchets, finding out about Tudor weapons, learning different art techniques and dancing to Tudor music. The children had such great learning experiences!

Spellings

- Official
- Speciality
- Artificial
- Partial
- Confidential
- Essential
- Argument
- Perspective
- Persuasive
- Biased

HOMEWORK

Children may be bringing home pieces of work to finish. In their Literature homework they have been asked to generate adjectives and nouns from an image and write a number of sentences.

Literacy

Fantastic letters have been produced by the children this week. They have taken on the role of Henry VIII and have written to the Pope asking for him to grant Henry a divorce. The children have worked hard using persuasive language, a range of connectives, paragraphs and the correct features of a formal letter.

