

Just to let you know...

During maths the children have worked hard to solve a mystery. Using their knowledge of shapes, angles and co-ordinates and by answering mathematical questions and converting the answers into letters, they have been able to eliminate 31 of the 32 suspects and identify who attacked Rudolph; Santa will be happy!

5H have also investigated scale and have made 3 versions of the nativity scene scaled to 5 x, 10 x and 20 x smaller than life-sized!

Next Tuesday will be our last group reading until after Christmas; many thanks for your help and support this term. Please continue to listen to your child read regularly during this busy time, commenting in their Reading Journal.

Dear Parents,

The children were wonderful in our Christmas production 'The Show Must Go On' and, as ever, we are extremely proud of them all. Thank you for providing Santa hats, dressing gowns and tea-towels, and especially for coming out on dark and chilly evenings to deliver and collect your children!

Next week is also a busy week:

Tuesday 10th—making day for our Tudor Fair (all help gratefully received) Children to wear their Tudor costumes.

Wednesday 11th—Y5 visit to Neasden Temple

Thursday 12th 2pm—Tudor Fair (all welcome!)

Many thanks

Y5 Team

During Art the children studied a series of paintings and images representing the main parts of the nativity story as told in both Matthew's and Luke's Gospels. The children then created their own Christmas cards inspired by the artwork they had seen, and identified the bible quote that inspired their art work.

This week in English we have been focussing on the story of the nativity. The children compared the Gospels of Matthew and Luke noting differences in their versions. They then wrote postcards, newspaper articles and play scripts from a given viewpoint in the story. The children also created 'freeze-frames' of key parts of the nativity story.
