

Topic fun

This week we have been writing post cards home from our exciting trip to China. We have learned a bit about Chinese new year, solving problems involving red envelopes and money in maths and writing poems about the different zodiac animals. We also made maps in the wild place.

Things to remember...

Have a lovely half term!

If any one is able to help with the wild place next half term, please sign up outside year 2—thank you.

Please make sure your child has some country facts and a picture for after the holidays—see STOP PRESS for details.

Parents evening forms will be coming home after half term so keep an eye out for them in the children's book bags.

STOP PRESS STOP PRESS STOP PRESS

After half term we will be turning year 2 into a publishing house and creating our own travel magazine. Over the holiday, please could you find 3 facts and a picture about a country of your child's choice. It could be a place where you have family or friends, a country you have visited or a place you are interested in. If there is anything else you would like to bring in to talk about, photographs, maps, artefacts or any thing else, please bring it with you on Monday 26th.

Round the world..

If you have a minute.....

We discovered this week that lots of the children can't spell their last names! We also discovered that lots of them don't know their home addresses and phone numbers. Have a go at learning them and practise every day until you can do it by heart!!

I'm bored box.

Have a go at making a Chinese meal. You could look up the ingredients on the computer, visit a Chinese supermarket and have a go at doing some cooking—ask a grown up to help! You could make menus and even your own Chinese calendar to give to your guests.
